

Pic 8 - This Milwaukee battery powered pruner is a game changer.

Pic 7 & 11 - Couple of the earlier gas powered top handled chain saws. Poulan and McCulloch chain saws paid their dues in the field.

Pic 2 - Before we utilized brush chippers we had to lop down the brush on the trucks. I preferred the longer handled loppers.

Pics 9 & 10 - Pole pruners have changed through the years. Single and double compound pulleys and a larger opening in the mouth of the pruner head. Pole lengths also got a little longer.

Pic 6 - The Ronin Battery powered ascending and descending device makes climbing aloft in trees effortless.

Pic 5 - Hand saws have evolved through the years. Handle designs and tooth configurations have come a long way.

Pic 3 - Gas powered ascending unit. The Wraptor.

Pic 1 - Capturing slack in your climbing line while ascending.

Pic 4 - Ropes are forever evolving. Lots to choose from. Select the correct rope for your climbing system.
